ABOUT Iggy

Egith van Dinther, known as IGGY, has had an incredible journey from horserider to model, actress, and TV presenter. Starting with a passion for horses, IGGY mastered horseriding, which taught her discipline and determination. She then transitioned into modeling, quickly making a name for herself with her striking looks and charisma. This success led her to acting, where she showcased her versatility in various roles.

In 2018, IGGY joined TRT World as a TV presenter, where she spent the last three years in Istanbul covering a wide range of topics.

IGGY is deeply involved in the biohacking space, prioritizing her mental and physical health every day. She is currently working on a new web series focusing on women's health, discussing topics such as hormonal health, women's cycles, and success stories about women who biohack.

As she continues to evolve, IGGY remains committed to sharing her story and inspiring others to follow their passions.
